Please join us for the fall meeting of the Ann Arbor chapter of SABR. We have an interesting program planned with the following featured guests:

- Peter Morris, well-known baseball researcher and author of Baseball Fever: Early Baseball in Michigan, will present his recent research: “A Pig in a Poke: The Secret History of the Emery Ball,” and

- Rich Adler, author of the recently-published book, Baseball at the University of Michigan, will talk about some of the many former University of Michigan baseball players who have played in the major leagues.

Of course, Peter and Rich will answer any questions you have. We'll also have three other program segments:

- Trivia Contest – For those of you who like to test your baseball knowledge, we will have several prizes to give away to the contestants with the best scores.

- Excerpt of Tape of 1951 Dodgers-Giants Playoff Game – Rich Adler will bring a tape that has announcers Russ Hodges, Gordon McClendon and Red Barber on it. We'll listen to part of it, perhaps the first inning of the final game.

- Visit with Other SABR Members – Spend some time talking with other SABR members about your favorite topic.

Meeting Location: The Library is located at 5577 Whittaker Road, which is south of I-94 and north of Textile Rd. (Driving directions to the Library from I-94 appear below.)

Optional Lunch: While the meeting at the Ypsilanti District Library will begin at 1:30, there will be an optional lunch at noon at Smoke House Blues restaurant, located at 4855 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor. The restaurant is on the north side of the street, a mile or two east of US 23.

I hope to see you on October 2nd. If you have any questions, please contact me.
